As you might know Cisco has announced End-of-Sale for MARS product. Cisco Security Agent, Web Application Firewall, now MARS... What else? I understand it's still a crisis time for Cisco and some fat should be eliminated, but that seems more raw flesh than fat.

The irony is that recently I've integrated Kaspersky Antivirus with Cisco MARS and was hoping to get some commercial value from that. It took me some time to figure out how to develop a custom parser for Kaspersky AdminKit, but actually I was pleased by the result.
